● New reality TV show for Miami: How well do you know Miami? Your street smarts might get you $100,000.

A new ABC reality show, Take the Money and Run, is casting for two episodes to be shot in the Miami area early next year. Casting producer Rita Koutsoulis was coy on the details, but described the show as “a game of cat-and-mouse” that pits two pairs of locals in some sort of chase through the Miami area. Judging by casting materials, one team will be police — producers are looking for detectives and federal agents. The other team will be civilians.

“It could be family or best friends growing up. It’s got to be someone you trust,” Koutsoulis said. “And the people need to know the city of Miami well.”

The casting calls will be held between 4 and 7 p.m. Nov. 30 at the Hard Rock Cafe at the Bayside Marketplace. For more details, e-mail takethemoneymiami@gmail.com.

Koutsoulis suggested the unemployed may have a leg up in landing a slot on the show. Producers will be asking would-be contestants why they need $100,000.
