

SLITHERING TO FAME: Miami-Dade Fire Rescue's Venom Response Bureau could be the next of the county's TV stars, following in the footsteps of its animal "cops" and fireboat rescuers. Commissioners in committee last week agreed to authorize the administration to work up a deal with locally based 2C Media to produce a pitch reel for a show based on the venom bureau's work. Animal Planet has expressed interest in the would-be series, county documents say. If "Venom One" does get picked up, the county would receive a donation.
